Amendment to the Specification:

Please substitute prior Specification with Specification attached to this paper.

The substitute Specification includes no new matter.

The substitute Specification presented in two versions: a marked-up version with markings (underlining) to show all the changes relative to the immediate prior version, and a plain version of the substitute specification.

Replace and amend paragraphs is not available because: first - immediate prior version doesn't have paragraphs, and second – amendments done in many different places including addition of subchapters. Thus it is difficult to split text on different paragraphs without changing numbers of paragraphs created for publication version of Application.

Attachment: Specification with markings of changes (p.7)

Specification without markings (p. 29)
